

The Explorer Imperative Residential Workshop

2011 Website Program Description

The Explorer Imperative™ invites you to discover the realms beyond the "bridge to other reality systems" found in Focus™ 21 with a revolutionary new audio support technology.

The Explorer Imperative program is all about discovering what lies beyond the "bridge to other reality systems" and about awakening, realizing that you are connected in very special ways with physical, energetic and timeless dimensions beyond what you generally observe. It is these very associations that define the true nature of the Self, and lead to ...more...

- Prerequisite: Gateway Voyage
- TMI Core Program
- Very reasonably priced at: \$1995 (includes meals, lodging, seminar activities, and local transportation)

The Explorer Imperative: a 21st century paradigm

Prerequisites: Gateway Voyage®

The Explorer Imperative™ invites you to discover the realms beyond the “bridge to other reality systems” found in Focus™ 21 with a revolutionary new audio support technology.*

The Explorer Imperative program is all about discovering what lies beyond the “bridge to other reality systems” and about awakening, realizing that you are connected in very special ways with physical, energetic and timeless dimensions beyond what you generally observe. It is these very associations that define the true nature of the Self, and lead inevitably to humankind knowing that there is so much more to life.

During this discovery process you have the opportunity to experience a vast matrix of information that has sometimes been called intuition, inspiration, revelation, transcendence, and even divine knowledge. When you choose to practice these ways of knowing, you realize the true Imperative. Such a path requires mindfulness of intent. Are you ready?

The Explorer Imperative is a six-day residential program held at The Monroe Institute in Virginia. The program is all about the literal exploration of human consciousness via personal experience through the use the new audio support technology to:

- enhance the brain’s ability to pass information derived through intuition, inspiration, revelation, transcendence, and even divine knowledge into conscious awareness
- explore the present evolutionary state of human consciousness through the use of inspirational deep-state intuitive questioning and non-verbal communication
- explore reality via Stream of Consciousness; Spotlight Consciousness; Modal Consciousness
- investigate Quantum Consciousness, quantum mind theory, and nonlocal perceptions
- experience the perceptual realms of gamma synchrony
- practice Remote Viewing as a function of nonlocal intuitive perception
- explore reality via Unified Consciousness as a function of transcendence and revelation

In addition to the audio-guidance CHEC Unit exercises, there are:

- group discussions
- application sessions
- multimedia presentations
- an occasional guest speaker and
- free time to relax, assimilate experiences, exercise, and/or socialize

The Explorer Imperative includes a revolutionary new audio-support technology called Spatial Angle Modulation™ or SAM developed using cutting edge scientific revelations about consciousness and neural microtubules. Consciousness is said to consist of a series of discrete events or objective reductions, which occur about 40 times per second, of the quantum wave function within neural microtubules. We experience these events as a continuous flow of consciousness, just like frames in a movie—our consciousness appears continuous because the frames are viewed in rapid succession.

Because microtubules exhibit resonance at specific audio frequencies, it was possible to develop a system of wave patterns to align microtubule cellular structures (viz. the Cymatic effect). This necessarily alters the geometry of zero-point-field (ZPF) plenums (“void” spaces) at molecular and atomic levels. As the geometric symmetry of the plenums increase, so does ZPF quantum coherence—both within plenums and between geometrically matching plenums. The greater the quantum coherence quotient, the more non-local awareness emerges or what one might call experiential quantum entanglement, the gate key to non-local awareness.

What all this means, illustrated with the movie frame metaphor above, is that with this new technology we will be able to alter the frame exposure rate, or the interlude between frames (when you are entangled with all space/time), and the exposure period for both perspectives. This technology enables you to move across the “bridge to other reality systems” and integrate your experiences there, craft a genuinely meaningful life, realize your true Self and, thereby, benefit all of humankind.

Hemi-Sync® Focus Levels describe discrete perspectives from which reality is said to be perceived differently, hence one moves from one Focus Level to another. This well trod path of exploration has become a tradition here at The Monroe Institute. The SAM audio support technology, however, does not limit perceptual venues to these traditional Focus Levels. One might consider thinking about SAM’s quantum-state explorations as beginning beyond the “bridge to other reality systems” concept of Focus™ 21. For ease of reference and orientation, SAM’s nonlocal realms are labeled as phase states. SAM Phases depict consciousness as a continuum rather than discrete Focus Levels. Along this infinite continuum, a particular perspective is assumed to be the result or sum of many points-of-view, one’s collected experiential repertoire. Moving beyond Focus 21 with the SAM technology, one explores a broad spectrum of quantum mind phase states of consciousness, growing their accumulation of experiences and enriching their lives.

One of the Institute’s facilitators describes this course as, “Advanced Technologies and Practicum for Refining Awareness in the Quantum Field.”